

PAIGE BARKER

Project Manager

Paige is an enthusiastic and driven young professional with previous experience working both contractor and consult side. Paige worked at a tier 1 contractor for 2 years ahead of joining DAY PM and is passionate about design and the construction industry. She has utilised her contractor background to enhance her view of what a well-rounded project should look like. All the way from design to completion. Paige has built strong relationships with stakeholders, clients and the various design teams.

Paige's ever growing technical knowledge of construction processes, regulations, and safety standards, along with a proactive approach to risk management, allows her to identify and mitigate risks, ensuring successful project outcomes. She also understands the importance of project planning, budgeting, and resource management, with her sole aim being delivering projects on time and within budget.

Paige is a Degree Apprentice at DAY PM and is in the final year of her studies towards a degree in Project Management in Construction, including her RICS accreditation. She continues to develop a deeper understanding of management theories and the technologies that are advancing the industry.
